There are numerous cases, but a few of the more recent ones are enough for samples. It would be impossible to enumerate them all. They extend from Hickeyism to the state and nation. One of the most ridiculous of these, on its face preposterous and untrue, was the assertion made by Sen. Lodge a few days ago that when Pres't Wilson sent his message to Germany on the Lusitania case, he insisted upon writing a postscript to Germany telling them that they must understand he did not mean what his note said.
